Wurm has been my go to game since 2006 when bored with whatever Mainstream MMO i was playing at the time. I've put more hours and money into it that i would like to even think about. That being said i can't recommend it anymore. The steam release was just a money grab from the dev team with promises of much needed improvement which we've seen nothing of. The launch of the new servers couldn't have been handled any worse than what it was. Don't bring up any of this in game chat though because a GM or CM will belittle you for having opinions of their game design skills then ban you from playing. I'll dearly miss wurm online and the friends i've had the pleasure of adventuring with.
